Viola is a gifted and skilled marketing manager. I had the opportunity to hire her and work with her for a year at 4Life Direct International. She excels in content marketing, writing bespoke blog posts and community management. Moreover, she knows how a paid campaign is structured and how to assist with creatives and words that sell. Last but not least is that she wants to improve her knowledge and learn new marketing tools and techniques. All of the above, combined with a pleasant character that likes teamwork makes her a perfect match for any business.
